APPLICATION FOR MEMBERSHIP

In brief, a member of the religion of Creativity: believes in its mission, accepts instructions issued by his or her superiors, and fights for its aims.

Further, membership is only invited to those of good moral character, of responsible nature, and idealistic purpose. While the Creativity Alliance wants all to support its aims and to believe in the religion of Creativity with a whole heart, it recognizes that not all White Racial Comrades are ready for the duties and self-sacrifice and self-discipline necessary to be an actual member of The Alliance. Those White Racial Comrades should instead become Official Supporters of The Alliance and assist the Holy Cause in whatever capacity they are able in that context.

The Creativity Alliance therefore has standards for membership and thus does not accept all applications for membership. Answers to the following questions and possible follow-up inquiries will determine whether membership in The Alliance is granted; you may add additional sheets to answer if necessary. It should be realized, however, that even if membership is granted, this is just the beginning step in a long journey of the member to prove by example that he or she deserves the honor of being and remaining a member of the Creativity Alliance. An honor it truly is and one which every member should never for one moment lose sight of.
