FOREWORD

This book is an attempt to explain through various lessons, among them many that life has given me, how social racism or National Socialism is not something we learn from books but from our own nature and personal experience.

If someone asked me how to be a social racist I would answer with three simple words: "open your eyes". Because our doctrine is in the reality that reveals itself to us every day. We do not doubt it because we constantly see it tested. It is not my intention to convert anyone with these words but to invite all those to whom this book has come into their hands to make this experience, to let nature show us the way to follow and to learn from its lessons.

WHITE POWER!

ENVIRONMENT OR GENETIC

Is our way of thinking only the product of the education or the environment in which we grew up, or did genetics play a role in this phenomenon?

When I was a child, I often spent summer days playing soccer or other games in the streets of my neighborhood. Sometimes we were bored and tried to find another diversion. My neighborhood was between two other neighborhoods. To the West was a very dangerous one, with high rates of crime. To the East was a residential one, similar to mine. The West was, for us, a type of underworld, which aroused a wide range of sinister fantasies.

When we were seated on the sidewalk thinking of something to play or something to do, I always had the same idea. "Hey guys, do we dare go to the West? Come on, let's see how it is." The other kids answered me with a re-sounding, "NO YOU'RE ABSOLUTELY MAD." The same thing happened when they said that a certain house was haunted. I wanted to enter and see if there was a ghost or what else I would find, while the other kids didn't even dare to pass by the house on the sidewalk. Why was I attracted by everything mysterious, dangerous, and unknown, while the other boys just wanted to stay in their safe and comfortable little world? After I grew up, I started to be interested in politics. When you are a teenager and you want to rebel, the fashionable and "cool" thing is to be a leftist. All the rebel boys followed the mode of Che Guevara—the anti-police anti-government. They were in favor of all kinds of civil rights for any and all types of people. The curious thing was that we received those kinds of ideas directly from the TV music channels, like MTV. Even when I was a teenager and I bought into the leftist ideology, the "rebel boys" the "cool" boys never liked me. Something in me bothered them, as if they knew that I really didn't believe in those hoaxes.

But there was something and somebody that both the "cool" boys and school teachers hated with all their souls: National Socialism and Adolf Hitler.

I also grew up watching Hollywood movies and I, too, believed the childhood tale of that "cruel and evil" man, who the allies saved us from. But since the "cool" kids didn't like me and the school teachers didn't sympathize much with me, I decided to find out for myself what the beliefs were of that man, who they disliked so much. Thus, I read Mein Kampf. Suddenly, I felt invaded by a peace of mind, a feeling that I had found answers for all the human issues. I felt that something drove me to discover that book.

A leftist would say, "The rejection of the other kids and your school failures were what made you a NAZI." But when I was a kid, without contact with either other kids or school teachers, I was already attracted to all the things unknown to ordinary people. I had this concern from the cradle. Perhaps I had something bad in my upbringing that impelled me even more to understand what those people, hated by humanity, were thinking.

I will repeat the initial question. Is our way of thinking conditioned by genetics or only by the environment? Embracing the ideas most rejected by human ignorance requires courage and daring, which I can find only in the genes. The conformists, who are not thinking, but accepting without questioning everything they are told, comprise the majority of the population. Surely, when we triumph they will come to our lines, but now they are like robots or parrots for the leftists.

To conclude, if we have embraced the National Socialist doctrines by our own initiative, it was because something inside our DNA moved us to do so. There are many people who are uncomfortable with the leftist ideology. They do not, however, dare too look "beyond," because they remember the images of the dead in the Hollywood movies. For them, our task is to continually teach the National Socialist doctrine in its true essence, as a movement of love for our race and our nature.

A SUMMER LOVE

It's a little hard to believe, but sometimes life gives us lessons that prove us wrong as we are often told and further strengthen our faith in the Fuhrer's word.

One January afternoon I met a girl, the young woman was, or seemed at first glance, beautiful. She had blonde hair like the sun, it was dyed and she spent large sums to maintain that color, some of her physical features were typical of Eastern Europe, I did not know her last name or her origin, because she was very sweet and her personality captivated me, she was also of a very high economic position and always dressed elegantly.

I started a relationship with her, I was very happy because I had fallen in love with her charm. One day her personality changed abruptly and from being sweet and affectionate she became extremely rude and unpleasant and told me without any consideration that she wanted to leave me, I asked her why she made that decision so suddenly and she answered "it's what I want and that's it" deeply hurt I returned home. Two weeks later she appears again with her same sweet initial personality saying that she loved me and that I forgave her for hurting my feelings, without understanding but still in love with the girl I met, I accepted her once again, a few days later with the same coldness and this time laughing she broke the relationship again saying that she had found "someone better than me", I asked her why she did this kind of things and she answered "that's how I feel". She left my life and some time later, when the social network known as facebook appeared, out of curiosity I put her email and I saw her last name and her real origin, she was not European, but from that Tartar-Turkish people that changed its religion.

As the fable of the scorpion and the frog explains, some people are evil by nature and can not change their habits of life, therefore contact with them causes us harm.

Was this a message that the path I was following was the right one? I am sure it was, I believe without a doubt that an unknown force operates upon us teaching us the doctrine not with books but with life lessons, because that is the only teaching that will never be abandoned or exchanged for another, you will never stop believing in that which you yourself have proven its existence. Books will make you know but life and experience will make you believe.

Finally, the girl grew up and her true racial nature emerged and today she is just as ugly inside and out.

REVERSE SELECTION

THE OTHER CAUSE OF THE WESTERN DECADENCE

We know that one of the reasons why the great civilizations of the past have perished was because their founding races mixed their blood with non-assimilable or genetically distant races. But there are also cases in which a people that preserves its racial purity experiences states of decadence, which we will discuss below.

In the animal kingdom, each species is shaped by the action of natural selection and, having no means to alter it, benefits from its constant improvement.

In human societies things would be the same except that men, or rather some men, have the capacity to create means that can alter the course of natural selection, with an apparently positive result in the short term but with a disastrous one in the long term.

How could we explain the current decline of Europe? Coloured immigration. Yes that is one cause, but who opened the door to these immigrants? Well, other whites, why would those whites do something that would harm their societies? Because those whites think more of themselves than of their own people. How can this be possible? Because those whites are the product of reverse selection, they are the biological waste that in normal situations would not survive to be able to do the harm they do.

The white men had to face the most adverse environmental conditions in the continent they inhabited, these conditions forced them to have to collaborate with each other to survive. This hostile environment exerted a natural selection in pursuit of the most creative and noble. But the creations and nobility of the survivors improved the living conditions and allowed them to avoid the hard tests that the environment imposed for the access to life, this was received with immense happiness, but with the passage of time some "not so noble" individuals appeared and began to hinder the path of the European towards the continuous improvement.

There was no problem, since the death penalty was applied to them. But one day, one of those "not so noble" individuals invented some strange ideas that we were all "free and equal" and spread them by deceiving the population. With the mass in their favor, the subhumans managed to overthrow the natural leaders and establish their own order completely away from natural laws, which led to this human waste reproducing at alarming levels until today.

How to solve the problem of biological waste by avoiding creations? No, creation is the essence of the white man and what differentiates him from other races. Then how to solve the problem of subhumans? By creating an order based on natural laws and applying the necessary policies to promote the survival and advancement of the best individuals, favoring the disappearance of those who cause the degeneration of the race.

A MESSAGE FROM THE RACE

A few years ago, I decided to travel to London and visit the British Museum. My intention was to make a simple sightseeing visit, little did I know that I would receive an important lesson.

At the British Museum I was dazzled by the works of art that the white race had created in its history, the perfection of the Greek sculptures was such that they seemed not to be human creations, that was just a sample of what the white race could achieve.

While walking through London I began to notice the enormous number of people of color flooding the streets of that beautiful city and I immediately visualized the warning message: if this migratory current does not stop and if the repatriation of the allogenic elements does not take place, the wonders contemplated in the British Museum will only be history and taken as works of extraterrestrials, already today some idiots cannot understand that man has created Stonehenge and assign its authorship to forces from outer space.

The only force capable of such a marvel has been the white race, the supreme race of the planet today at risk of extinction due to miscegenation and involution.

We still have time to be amazed again by works similar to those of our ancestors, but to do so we must avoid mixing with colored blood and the equally pernicious involution.

We need to create a white world nation where there is no danger of miscegenation and with the necessary conditions for the biological ascent of our race.

That has been the message: White civilization or colored barbarism.

THOSE HAPPY DAYS

When I was in high school, my group of close companions consisted of four boys (two Jews and two Gentiles, I was one of the latter).

One of them had an extremely unpleasant behavior, he was rude and was always threatening me that he was going to kick me out of the group (he was considered the leader because of his good grades). The other, who frequently quarreled with the aforementioned one, would come to me to ask me for favors when he quarreled with his racial compatriot and then find any excuse not to return the favor, in other words, he was a con man and a liar.

That is the lesson about the behavior of this race: when they have power they show their true essence, when they don't have it they resort to deceit pretending to be victims to receive help, once they get what they wanted they go back to their usual behavior.

Two individuals, one race.

A COMPLIMENT FROM A GIRL

One day I met a beautiful girl, who to my surprise, since that doesn't happen very often, was very interested in me.

We had a date in which everything went well, I kissed this beautiful girl as much as I wanted. On our date she told me that she was a catechist and that she had sympathies for nationalism and anti-communism, a fact that gave me the confidence to tell her about my beliefs in race. She didn't seem to mind at the time, but the next day she said she didn't want to see me anymore, I asked her why and she said she never saw a person with as much faith as I had in race, she said I was "unrecoverable" and she didn't want to date a racist.

This girl was a nationalist, anti-communist and anti-racist, so she loved her country but didn't mind seeing it overrun by millions of immigrants of color, she loved a territory but not her race and if the race is lost, the territory, no matter how rich, is nothing but infertile land.

The political nation is an artificial entity that can be modified without major problem but the race is a natural entity whose modification causes serious consequences for the whole humanity, therefore, it is useless to be nationalist and anti-communist if you are anti-racist. There is no worse disaster than that brought about by racial degradation either by degeneration or miscegenation.

So she rejected me because she thought I was an irretrievable racist. I was actually flattered by her rejection.

THE LAW OF LIFE

One day, a pregnant cat had chosen my house to live in and have her kittens. Her kittens were very fearful of humans.

I decided to do an experiment, put out the food I usually gave them and stood next to the dish. They always waited for me to leave, this time I stayed to see how they reacted.

At first they all stayed in the same situation, looking at me from a distance waiting for me to move away from the plate. Eventually one of them came closer and ate more than his brothers who decided to wait for me to leave.

That is the law of life: Only those who have the courage to face adversity will have the right to live. Life belongs to the bold.

HOLLYWOOD NAZIS

Strange is the fact that being our worldview the natural order, we are related to individuals who have nothing to do with it, even several comrades think of them as "model comrades".

For a while I attended the gatherings of the Hollywood Nazis, they always ended in fights among them, in alcoholic individuals out of their minds, among other delights.

I was always struck by two particularities of these subjects: their desire for violence and the hostility between them. I asked myself what their behavior had to do with the natural order, the family and the community.

The answer is none.

The Hollywood Nazis are a gang united by their love for the Hollywood-constructed image of the NS.

In what way does their behavior represent the white race?

When you attend their events you witness a spectacle akin to a documentary on Liberia.

A musical group intones a song, audience members jump and hit each other while emitting screams. The frequent fights are due to common divisions among the members of that gang. There is no camaraderie but a constant struggle for power. Being interested only in violence and power, it is not surprising that they "regret" having been NS, which they have never done, "see the light" and convert to leftism by helping our enemies directly, which they used to do indirectly.

In conclusion, Hollywood Nazis are white people who behave like black people just like white rappers and therefore do not represent in the least the essence of our race and worldview.

THE CURRENT SITUATION OF THE WHITE MAN

I worked for three years in a drugstore with three women, two coloured and one white, the latter being my boss.

Some would say that I was lucky to work among women, but it was one of the most unpleasant experiences I have ever had, although it taught me a valuable lesson.

The two coloured women did not stop mistreating me, humiliating me and accusing me of being a "privileged", on the other hand, my white boss, in response to this, decided to support my colleagues and join them in the mistreatment of me.

When I could no longer tolerate this situation and decided to put a stop to the abuse, I was taken to the Human Resources office where another white woman reprimanded me, telling me that I was a man and that I worked with women and that because I was a man I could not respond to her aggressions.

Here is the effect of leftism on the white world, these are the new social norms:

- Coloured races are worth more than white.
- Women are worth more than men.
- Coloured women are worth twice as much as white men because they are women and coloured.
- The white woman has more in common with coloured women than with a man of her race, therefore, in the face of conflict, she should join them.
- The white heterosexual male is the enemy of the world so he can be treated as a second-class citizen.

I believe that the bitter experience was no accident. It was a clear message:

Progressivism is trying to destroy the white male, who is the creator and driver of civilization. For its objective it uses the coloured men and women who put themselves at its service for the favors given to them by leftism. Without white males there is no civilization and no future for white women, who are dragged down by the privileges afforded them by feminism. Therefore, as white males, it is our duty to fight for the survival of our race and civilization against progressivism and the forces that direct it.

WHITES AND ARYANS

Are all whites Aryans?

Historically speaking, the Aryans comprised tribes of Indo-European origin, who possessed the most developed and perfected physical and psychic qualities of all white peoples.

These peoples, as we well know, spread throughout Europe and the Indian subcontinent, bringing their superior genes to the populations they encountered along the way. But these could only survive when the Aryans found racially related peoples such as the natives of Europe.

Therefore, biologically speaking, we can define all whites in Europe as Aryans, but even so, not all whites are Aryans.

Which whites would be considered Aryans?

It is erroneously believed that Aryans are the whites coming from a certain region of Europe or branch of the white race. The reality is that Aryan genes are found in every corner of the old world and are manifested in every individual who possesses extraordinary qualities.

Therefore, the Aryans comprise the biological elite of the white race. That composed of the creators and doers of which Vacher de Lapouge spoke to us, all those who collaborate with the biological ascent of the race and the progress of civilization.

Which whites are not part of the Aryans?

The biological waste, both the foam (indirect or white-collar criminals) and the dregs (direct or asocial criminals). The subhumans who contribute to the lowering of the qualitative level of the race and to the degeneration and destruction of civilization.

What about the whites who are in the middle class, i.e. the assimilators?

At first, all racially and genetically healthy whites will be accepted in the Aryan nation, then the state will watch over the reproduction of the most perfect and of superior conditions and the distribution of their genes throughout the population, raising their qualitative level in complement with the superior recessive genes of the white assimilators.

Finally, whom do we include when we speak of Aryans today? As we have just mentioned, all genetically healthy whites, who in the future will be perfected through the increase and expansion of those better endowed through the corresponding eugenic policies.

THE DEATH OF CIVILISATION

"ONLY THE INDIVIDUAL CREATES, NOT THE MASS"

Adolf Hitler

When I was a teenager, the need to respond to my concerns and the search for a group to belong to led me to join a leftist organisation. But I failed in my objectives.

I always used my common sense when analysing a phenomenon and drawing my own conclusion. This infuriated my red "comrades", as my conclusions contradicted their beliefs.

The progressives told you how you should think or give your opinion on a given fact and their indications could not be questioned, in other words, you had to think as a mass and not as an individual. They were all supposedly "rebels" who followed rules about the right way to rebel and any manifestation of individual thought and behaviour that contradicted their "good rebel manual" infuriated them.

I could not accept a lie knowing it was a lie, so my relationship with them deteriorated to an end.

The reason for their displeasure was that leftism can only triumph with a mass, that is, with a conglomerate of subjects who think monolithically. But with a mass there can be no civilisation, because civilisation is created by individuals. What would the planet be like today if men had not been born who decided to question established beliefs and follow their own theories? We would still be in the caves.

Therefore, the triumph of leftism is the death of the individual and its replacement by the mass, therefore it can only mean one thing: the death of civilisation.

RACE ABOVE ALL

Many comrades are obsessed with the political and economic programmes of fascism and National Socialism, forgetting the main element of our world view: race.

Political and economic measures are successful only if they achieve their objective: the preservation and advancement of the race.

A policy may be successful in one race and a failure in another, or within the same racial group the result will be different if the measure is applied to a racially healthy people or to a degenerated one.

The function of the racist social state is to be the breeder of the race and to apply measures in accordance with that end. If a policy is favourable to this aim it will be positive and adopted, and if it is not, it will be negative and discarded. Therefore, we have no dogmas or doctrines, only one goal: the preservation and rise of the race, because the race will determine our future, civilisation or savagery, therefore, we can make any kind of mistake except one: to break the racial laws, and these are two and very simple:

-Keep the race pure.

- To avoid racial degeneration through union with biologically degenerate individuals or with behaviour that degrades the essence of our race.

If we act according to these two simple rules our future will be guaranteed, always remember: we are what we are, what we were and what we can become because of our race, therefore race must be first in our priorities, race must be above all.

HE IS ALWAYS THERE

When I was young I was very angry, I felt that nobody understood me, my leftist "comrades" (because, as I have told you, I was a leftist for a short time as a teenager) had turned their backs on me because according to them "I was not like them, nor one of them", at least they were right about something. Out of curiosity or anger at my "comrades" or for some unknown reason, I wanted to know what the man who everyone said was the enemy of humanity thought: our Fuhrer Adolf Hitler. So I read his book, which I finished in three days.

If it had been a Hollywood movie I would have become a hooligan, but as it was reality, I became a good man. Whoever becomes a hooligan is because he did not understand the message of the Fuhrer. He is not just a leader, he is a friend, the best friend you can have, to every concern you have he has an answer. If you had a bad day he will comfort you, if you feel you don't have the strength to go on, he will give it to you, he walked the darkest paths you can imagine, so if you need a word, he will have one.

He is always there, you just have to listen to him.

WE MUST ALWAYS REMEMBER OUR GOALS

I had a comrade who was, or claimed to be, a convinced fighter for the cause of our Fuhrer and the white race and now he is a Marxist Muslim, but here is the curious thing, he still claims to be a National Socialist. How is this possible?

The boy started one day to have strange ideas, he said that the place that Germany and Italy had in the 30's today is held by Venezuela and the Middle East. Then, to fight Zionism, he converted to Islam, without realising that with his action he was also confronting the West and the white man, and to support Venezuela, he adopted a pro-Marxist position of "national socialism".

He explained to me his new ideological position, he claimed that the socialism of the 21st century, the main enemy of the white race, is the new national socialism.

I was sad to lose this boy, who was a good and hard-working comrade, but there was no other choice, we cannot allow Marxist entryism into our movement, and to avoid such deviations we must always remember our goals:

THE PRESERVATION AND ADVANCEMENT OF THE WHITE RACE.

THE THIRD WAVE

(A film we should see and know how to see)

I was in my last year of high school and the history teacher told us that we would see a film that would make us understand the consequences of "totalitarian regimes", the film was "The Third Wave", which is based on an experiment carried out by teacher Ron Jones at Cubberly High School in Palo Alto, California, in 1967.

The experiment was a success, the students were individualistic and disorganised and through discipline and a sense of community they became a small "ideal society", each individual had value for the role they played, there was no violence or bullying, there was respect among them, their grades had improved considerably and more and more students wanted to be part of the Wave movement. Finally, Professor Jones decided to disband the experiment.

The film (I mean the American version directed by Alex Graschoff, as the German remake of 2008 is a free version with murders and suicides to dirty the project) we must learn to watch it, why do I say this? Because it intends to sully National Socialism but in that attempt it does nothing more than demonstrate its benefits. Yes, it is true that the film shows a loss of individuality of the students and criticises this condition as a characteristic feature of the NS, but we know that in reality this is completely false. The Fuhrer attached vital importance to the individual as the engine for the advancement of civilisation.

It goes without saying that Professor Jones, in an attempt to be neutral, invited to his class a member of the American Nazi Party, a member of the Ku Klux Klan and an activist of the Communist Party of America, so that the students could hear the ideas from the mouths of their own supporters. And as we know, when faced with freedom of speech and a level playing field, victory is on our side.

This film gave me my first lesson on National Socialism and further nourished my curiosity for the movement and the figure of our Fuhrer (when I saw it I was still on the left, but my relationship with this current was already very deteriorated and on the verge of rupture).

This is a film "allowed" by the system, so I recommend that every comrade see it and recommend it to those who do not know our ideas, making a clarification about the film's attempts to sully us.

He wanted to teach National Socialism to his students and he has done so. Thank you very much Professor Jones.

WHAT IS BIOLOGICAL SOCIALISM?

What is biological socialism? An ideology? No, a doctrine? No, a dogma? No, then?

Biological socialism is the order in which each member of the community performs the work for which he or she is best qualified and receives a just reward for it. In other words, biological socialism is the natural social order.

What is the role of the state in biological socialism?

The state must see to it that biological socialism can develop without any hindrance or disturbance, and therefore will not intervene in the lives of citizens except in the case of a disturbance and then only to restore the lost equilibrium.

The state in biological socialism is small in size and shrinks further as the genetic health of the race increases, because interventions will be less and less necessary and therefore less and less frequent.

In conclusion, biological socialism is the way through which the race develops its qualities in the service of its genetic progress and advancement.

FEAR OF BEING EXPOSED

Recently an Argentinean journalist was accused of "anti-Semitism" by exposing the eight individuals behind leftism and the new world order with their names and surnames.

The journalist had not made the slightest mention of the race of the subjects, but the members of that race prevalent in leftism took the hint and came to the defence of their financiers. Even so, they could do nothing with the journalist.

What does this teach us?

That Zionism is afraid of being exposed as responsible for the present situation in the white world and by reacting to protect itself only exposes its responsibility for the degeneration of the West.

The event that happened to the journalist filled me with expectations. The whites will soon become aware of their real enemies and if we act like the journalist, without mentioning their race, they will not be able to attack us.

I am very grateful to her, regardless of whether or not she intended to expose the real enemies of civilisation. We are on the right track.

THE WHITE MAN, THE TRUE OUTCAST OF MODERNITY

When we watch a film or a TV series, one message is constantly repeated: "The white man is privileged".

Is this true? Let's see for ourselves.

-The white man has no laws or organisations to protect him, unlike the coloured man.

-The white man must tolerate being attacked and despised by the coloured man without being able to react. If he does so, he will be accused of being a "racist".

-The white man must tolerate being mistreated and humiliated, because doing this to a white man is not considered "racial hatred" by the system.

-The white man must resign himself to the fact that the coloured man will take away his job or his place in a university when the latter is less qualified than he is, under the pretext of "reparations" or a supposed debt that the white man owes the coloured man for having freed him from savagery and given him civilisation.

-If the white man has no money, he is worth absolutely nothing to the woman in the present system, regardless of her genetic endowment. According to the system, "discrimination" against him is not an act that deserves any condemnation or social sanction.

-The white man can be killed by a coloured man and the world doesn't care.

When you are told of "white privilege" think of what I have just told you, when you are called upon to help the causes of the coloured man remember what I have told you. The system has lied to you and has inverted reality, the white man is the true pariah of modernity, and it is to him that humanity owes all its progress, therefore, if you really want to fight oppression, defend the white cause.

THE COLOUR OF THE TRAIN OR ITS DESTINATION

What is more important, the colour of the train or the place it takes us to? The answer is very obvious, isn't it? If we can easily solve this dilemma in our daily lives, why can't we solve it in our cause?

There are many comrades who refuse to work with other comrades or with like-minded movements because they do not openly claim to be National Socialists or have mere aesthetic differences. I ask again, when you take a train, do you look at its colour or its destination?

What is our destination? The natural social order. If we have a chance of reaching it, it matters little what the means of getting there looks like. Many believe that if we ally ourselves with individuals with our own goals but who do not openly proclaim themselves NS we would be diverting ourselves from our cause, but it is quite the opposite, it will be our undeclared NS allies who will end up joining our ranks. Remember well this lesson that I have already stated in a previous writing:

Anyone who wants to bring order to the world will sooner or later meet Adolf Hitler.

WHITE POWER!

WHITE VICTORY!

HEIL HITLER!
